

Charlie Hebdo: A Roundtable Discussion

The campus community is invited to explore the complex debates sparked by the recent terrorist attacks on the weekly satirical magazine Charlie Hebdo in Paris. A panel of experts will give short presentations, followed by a general question-answer and discussion period. All are welcome. Light refreshments provided.

Wednesday, January 21
Kauke 305
4-5:30 PM

Discussants:

Marion Duval, Assistant Professor of French and Francophone Studies
Harry Gamble, Associate Professor of French and Francophone Studies
Kevin Marsh, Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science
Ibra Sene, Associate Professor of History

Organizers:

Greg Shaya, Associate Professor of History; Chair, International Relations
Laura Burch, Assistant Professor of French and Francophone Studies

Sponsored by the departments of French and Francophone Studies, History and International Relations

Photo courtesy of Martin Argyroglo